24 Points Arrive Just in Time

M-Sgt. Thomas P. Conroy of Natrona, Pa., holds twins, Thomas P., Jr., and John Francis, who were a big help toward getting their dad out of the Army under the point system. On April 5, Sgt. Conroy had 71 points after 28 months overseas, but next day Mrs. Conroy (right) presented him with the twins, boosting his total to 95. A single heir would have left the sergeant two points shy of 85.

500 Air Forts Batter Nagoya

By JAMES LINDSLEY

GUAM, May 14 (AP)—Industrial Nagoya, Japan's third largest city, was plastered with 3500 tons of fire bombs today by a record fleet of 500 Superfortresses, and returning crewmen reported "sweeping devastation" of the metropolis.

Navy Hints Japs Plan U-Boat War

WASHINGTON, May 14 (INS)—Navy Sec. Forrestal said in hearings made public today the Navy faces the possibility Japan, by an abrupt change in tactics, may launch a widespread submarine campaign against Allied supply lines.

He emphasized the possibility in testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee, which today reported an annual Navy budget bill carrying more than $25,000,000,000 in direct appropriations and contract authorizations.

"The Japs, Forrestal explained, have 'a large and effective submarine fleet' which thus far has been used chiefly for scouting, transportation and mopping up after sea engagements.

"As Japan is driven back into her home waters, she may turn her submarines to raiding our supply lines," said Forrestal. "Therefore the management and protection of Pacific convoys will remain a major Navy task until the last Jap submarine is sunk."

While the Jap fleet has been reduced to a medium-sized task force, he said, the Navy nevertheless faces tremendous tasks in the war.

"The Navy is literally fighting the Japanese land-based air force for superiority in the air over Japan's islands," he said. "This struggle is unique in the history of the war."

Committee members pressed Forrestal and Adm. Ernest J. King on the strength of the Japanese fleet and air force.

Forrestal said he would "guess" the Japs had 4000 effective planes. "It is pretty difficult to say, but it is something on that order," said Adm. King. "Their great trouble is trained pilots. One reason they haven't got trained pilots is because we never give them any rest."

Adm. King estimated the Japs have "something on the order" of 20 large destroyers left after a series of defeats.

Forrestal emphasized to the committee the logistics of the Pacific war. "Tremendous distances, he said, make the task of supplying forces difficult. Forrestal said the Japs were driven into suicide tactics because of terrific aircraft losses which have been as many as 1800 a month.

Asked to state losses around Okinawa as a result of Jap suicide bombing Forrestal gave a report "off the record."

The Navy he said had almost 1200 ships on the Iwo Jima attack and a larger number in the Okinawa attack.

The committee approved a naval budget bill carrying $25,432,000,000 in direct appropriations and authorizations to prosecute the Japanese war.

While there was no immediate report of American losses, plane commanders agreed they must have been very light, and said opposition was surprisingly weak.

It was the most concentrated incendiary raid of the Pacific war.

The giant air fleet, winging a 3300-mile round trip, struck while Radio Tokyo was reporting a continuing two-day offensive by 900 carrier-based planes on its home islands.

The B-29 air parade was more than 1800 miles long. The first Superfort flew from the Japanese city, dropped its fire bombs and was 90 minutes on its way home when the last plane was taking off from its Marianas base.

A new type six-pound fire bomb was carried today for almost every one of Nagoya's 1,500,000 inhabitants. Altogether, 1,165,000 of the jelly gasoline bombs were dropped.

The tonnage of incendiaries dropped on Nagoya was larger than that carried by Liberators or Flying Fortresses in any raid over Europe.

A Japanese communiqué admitted fires were started in various sections of the city but claimed most of them were extinguished five hours after the raid began.

Japanese headquarters claimed eight Superforts were shot down and nine damaged. One Tokyo broadcast said bomb-carrying fighters escorted the B-29s.

Nagoya, on Honshu, is Japan's largest aircraft industry center, home of the Mitsubishi aircraft engine works and others. One-quarter of the working population are engaged in warplane production.

The armada swept over Iwo for a navigation check—a fresh indication of the value of that blood-stained isle.

The air fleet later rendezvoused off the Japanese coast—defiant of interceptors—and the first bombardier called "bombs away" at 8:15 a. m.

3 U. S. Divisions Race to Split Mindanao Japs

MANILA, May 14 (AP)—

Americans of the 24th Infantry Division hacked away at stubborn Japanese lines near Davao city on Mindanao today while the 40th Division, capturing the extensive Del Monte air center, sped south to bisect the big Philippine island, turning the extensive Del Monte air center, sped south to bisect the big Philippine island.

On northeastern New Guinea, Australians captured Wewak, bypassed earlier by American troops, Gen. MacArthur announced in his communiqué today.

The Japanese were throwing everything they had into the fight northwest of Davao in an attempt to pin down the 24th Division near Davao gulf.

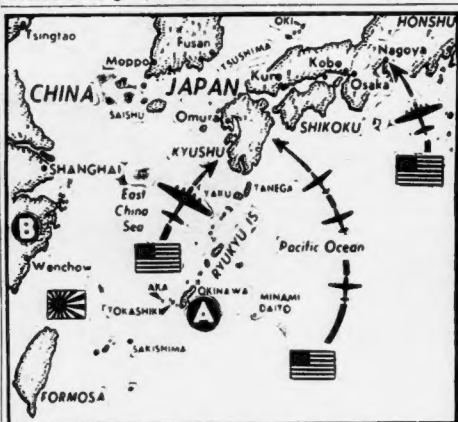

The Nipponese used rocket fire in hope of stemming the steady Yank advance between the Talamo and Davao rivers.

Juncture of the three U. S. divisions—the 40th to the north, 31st in the middle and 24th at the south—would split the estimated 50,000 enemy troops garrisoned on Mindanao.

Maj. Gen. Brush's 40th Division, which landed on Macajalar bay, already was speeding toward a junction with the 31st, less than 60 miles away at captured Marag airfield.

Against light opposition, the 40th stormed up narrow gorges onto the inland plateau, captured Del Monte, with its three airfields, and pressed two miles beyond.

PACIFIC OPERATIONS—More than 500 Superfortresses blasted Nagoya, on Honshu, with 3500 tons of incendiary bombs while other B-29s attacked Kyushu. Carrier-based aircraft also pounded Kyushu in a great attack which may be continuing. Marines on Okinawa (A) have entered the capital city of Naha where heavy fighting is in progress. Eisenhower Rebukes Coddling of Goering

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower said today he regrets instances in which senior officers treated captured Nazi and high German officials on a "friendly enemy" basis in direct violation of his orders.

The Supreme Commander said:

"My attention has been called to press reports of instances of senior United States officers treating captured Nazi and high German officials on a 'friendly enemy' basis. Any such incident has been in direct violation of my express and long standing orders.

"Drastic measures have been set in motion to assure termination of these errors forthwith.

"Moreover, any past instances of this nature are by no means indicative of the attitude of this army, but are results of faulty judgment of individuals concerned, who will be personally acquainted with expressions of my definite disapproval.

"In the name of this great force and on my own, I regret these occurrences."

Widespread criticism had appeared in the British, French and American press on treatment of Reichsmarshal Goering.

Dispatches from the Seventh Army said Goering was given a lunch of chicken and peas at the headquarters of Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, commander of the 36th (Texas) Division after "brief greetings and a handshake," and posed for pictures with Dahlquist and Brig. Gen. Robert Stack of Schenectady, N. Y.

The London News Chronicle declared the British people had been angered by reports of the way Goering was treated.

Allied headquarters in Rome said the War Department in Washington had banned further interviews with captured prisoners, interneers or persons likely to face charges of being war criminals.

Jap Reserves Join Naha Fight

By ROBBIN COONS

GUAM, May 14 (AP)—Japanese threw in fresh reserves today and laid down thunderous artillery barrages in an effort to halt a powerful American offensive which had well reached the outskirts of Naha, shell blasted and heavily mined capital of Okinawa.

Marines advanced into the outskirts of Naha's business district, and foot soldiers under command of Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley staged a fierce assault on a hill position near the center of the Okinawa line from which enemy was directing artillery fire.

Many enemy troops killed in the Okinawa sector were new uniforms, indicating they probably were reserves seeing their first action.

Enemy defense was growing more desperate every hour. In addition to anti-tank guns and mines, savage one-man sorties by Japanese carrying satchel charges of explosives were increasing.

Japanese artillery fire roars constantly during daylight, and snipers are harassing fire at night as the enemy defends a city reduced largely to rubble.

The mined and booby-trapped city of 66,000 population was a mere skeleton, reported Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland, who entered the northern section of Naha yesterday. Marines of Maj. Gen. Shepherd's Sixth Division, moving down the west coast, fought fiercely to the northern bank of the Asato, which runs through the city.

Here the fanatical Japanese were throwing artillery, mortars and considerable small arms fire into the tank-led American column.

Behind the Marine lines, a Japanese force attempted yesterday to make a counter-landing near the Machinato airfield but failed disastrously. Guns from ships and ashore broke up the amphibious force and sank every landing boat.

Text Books Hitler Banned OK Again

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—Mass reprints of pre-Nazi schoolbooks approved by the Allied Military Government are ready for use in German schools as soon as they are permitted to reopen. Allied headquarters announced today.

Nine German textbooks discarded by the Hitler regime have been reprinted in quantity at Aachen and Bonn after being passed by Allied education experts.

Chinese Battle In Foochow

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, May 14 (AP)—

For the second time since Foochow was occupied by the Japanese in April, 1939, Chinese troops have entered that East China port facing Formosa, striking in the very sector where Japan feared American landings.

The Chinese high command announced last night that several columns of Chinese troops had entered the old treaty port on Thursday and had captured an airfield to the south.

Sure fighting was reported in Foochow, although the ease with which the Chinese entered gave credence to rumors the Japanese had evacuated the city, which they seized last October for the announced purpose of thwarting any American plans for a landing.

The Chinese also announced that fighting had flared in the eastern seaboard area to the north, where Chinese troops and local militia attacked and occupied Sinchang, 65 miles southeast of Hangchow. This capital of Chekiang province is about 3000 miles north of Foochow.

An Army spokesman said the Japanese had altered their main-land strategy to concentrate strength north of the Yellow river in northeastern China.

DeMarigny And Nancy To Separate

NEW YORK, May 14—Although only two months ago they mutually protested their love and devotion for each other during a reunion in Montreal, Count and Countess de Marigny, principal figures in the still unsolved slaying of Sir Harry Oakes, Nassau millionaire, have agreed to separate, the New York Journal-American said today.

The Countess, Nancy Oakes de Marigny, is the daughter of the late Sir Harry, Count Alfred de Marigny, now third mate aboard a Canadian merchant vessel, was acquitted of the murder of his father-in-law during a trial that attracted international attention.

Under terms of the reported agreement, De Marigny waived all property rights to the vast fortune she inherited from Sir Harry. Nancy is now in New York following her recent return from Montreal.

Following the visit to her husband last March, Nancy said they had a "completely happy" reunion and that she expected to see him again as soon as his ship returned to Montreal. The Count said then:

"I am more in love with my wife than ever, and there is no truth to rumors that we will separate."

When De Marigny was acquitted in Nassau in November, 1943, of the slaying of Sir Harry, whose burned and bludgeoned body was found in the bedroom of his magnificent estate, "Westbourne," the jury that found him innocent also voted unanimously that he and his close friend, Marquis George de Vasselou, be deported from the Bahamas.

In the absence of the Duke of Windsor, then governor-general of the Bahamas, De Marigny was "invited" by the governor's council to leave. He and his young wife established temporary residence in Cuba.

Nancy had inherited approximately $200,000,000 from her father, one of the wealthiest men in the British empire—perhaps in the world—but her fortune is still tied up by litigation and international complications. She is a Bahama citizen, although American-born, as was her father, a native of Dover-Foxcroft, Me.

Freed GIs Get All of the Best

CHISLEDON, England, May 14 (AP)—When an American prisoner of war steps out here from the plane which flew him from Germany he finds the United States

Army waiting with all those things he has been dreaming about while hungering in Nazi prison camps.

Ice cream, candy bars, soft drinks, movies, soft beds, over-stuffed chairs—all are here for him to enjoy for the first time in months.

"Every possible effort must be made to give these repatriated men an appropriate welcome and reception and every possible endeavor will be made to insure their physical comfort," said Brig. Gen. E. F. Koenig, United Kingdom base commander.

Three-fourths of all liberated prisoners returned by air are taken to the 347th U. S. Army station hospital here.

Most men stay just long enough to establish that they are fit to go to a clearing station for transport home.

If they are too ill or weak to walk to the theater, where the seats are over-stuffed armchairs, they are taken in wheelchairs.

Each gets food rations for a man and a half unless severe malnutrition compels a special diet and medical treatment.

"Most liberated prisoners are suffering from malnutrition, some very severely," said Lt. Col. Gordon MacRae, commanding officer of the 347th Hospital, "but by careful, good feeding all can be restored to full health."

The food they get in Army hospitals usually revitalizes them quickly. As soon as they have put on enough weight to weather the trip home they are sent to a special clearing station in London for transportation to the United States.

'Necessary' GIs Go Direct To Pacific

By AUSTIN BEALMER

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—Some American Army units were earmarked for the war against Japan even before redeployment day May 12 and will proceed directly to the Pacific, Lt. Col. W. C. Hay said today. He is in charge of the redeployment plans branch in the European theater of operations.

Units mentioned will not stop in the United States. Their selection was based on military necessity and the desire to hasten reinforcement of Pacific forces.

Units being moved directly to the Pacific before tabulation of adjusted service rating scores are considered essential. Such men cannot be discharged, no matter what their score.

Col. Hay said the majority of men discharged in the United States on the basis of the interim critical score of 85 are overseas veterans who had been sent home for rest and rehabilitation.

The 85 score is subject to revision by the War Department, which is expected to announce the final critical score on June 27, after receipt of all ratings now being tabulated. The readjustment of all American enlisted personnel in the European theater will begin one week later.

Col. Hay said boards of review composed of veteran officers will be set up in each major command for final screening of candidates for discharge.

Names of any candidates retained will be submitted to supreme headquarters by these boards, with full reasons for their detention in service.

Col. Hay said all American troops who had been prisoners would be returned to the United States, but it is for the War Department to decide whether they will be discharged or redeployed.

Soviet Gains in Race For Postwar Power

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14 (AP)—Anglo-American-Russian maneuvers for postwar world leadership are developing at top speed behind the scenes of the United Nations Conference. So far, Russia is credited by her Western Allies with some major gains.

The Soviet Union, moving firmly into a situation once dominated by Anglo-American policies, is regarded by Anglo-American officials as seeking at least three main objectives in her foreign policy:

1—Arrangements for her own security—first by lining her strategic borders with governments Moscow considers friendly and by laying down protective treaties; second, by helping develop and support the world security organization being planned here.

2—Building up a case which will enable Moscow to bid for what it might call "moral leadership" of the world—showing Russia as a champion of democratic rights and freedoms, and the western powers as defenders of conservatism.

3. Preparing a firm basis for Russia's maximum influence in the power politics of the future. Russia's proposal that the Big Five sit in as permanent members of a trusteeship council is seen as a move in this direction.

Russia's moves here are being studied intently by British and United States authorities because she is relatively new to the international scene.

Only now are her postwar policies as a great military, political and geographical power—and potentially a large industrial power—beginning to take shape.

U. S. and Britain Show Anger at Reds' Tactics

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 14—In the wake of a series of "Molotov cocktails" tossed into the San Francisco Conference and a sequence of political and military post-V-E Day irritants from Moscow, British and American spokesmen spoke out firmly over the week-end.

Prime Minister Churchill, aiming at the Soviet Union's unbridled campaign to Communize Europe, warned during a global broadcast that there was no place on the continent for any totalitarian governments to supersede the defeated Nazi regime.

In Washington, Acting Secretary of State Grew served notice on the Moscow-supported Communist Gen. Tito of Yugoslavia that Trieste and adjacent territory would be controlled by the Allied and not be administered by Tito.

American lend-lease was suspended to Russia as the result of an announcement by Foreign Economic Administrator Crowley that only countries now at war with Japan or used for redeployment of American troops would continue to receive such bounty.

The shutting off or continuance of lend-lease has been pictured generally as the only post-war diplomatic trading weapon that would be recognized by the realistic Stalin faced with the task of retooling Soviet industry and rehabilitating vast devastated areas.

The Grew statement regarding Trieste seemed of the utmost significance because it appeared to become an adopted policy concerning all liberated territory which might be applied to Poland as well as other areas freed by the Red Army.

Grew pointed out that it had been agreed Allied military government would be established in disputed areas pending settlement "by the orderly processes to which the United Nations are pledged."

Meanwhile, the delicate Polish situation remained unimproved.

There were other recent Soviet policies contributing to Anglo-American dissatisfaction with Russian collaboration. These included:

Delay in returning 35,000 American prisoners of war and approximately 100,000 British prisoners from Russian-occupied Germany.

Procrastination in inviting American and British military participation in the three-way Allied administration of Berlin.

Soviet insistence that American military forces wedging into the suburbs of Berlin withdraw behind the Elbe river while the Red Army was attempting to enter the capital from the east.

Interference of Molotov at the San Francisco Conference with the American plan to obtain unchallenged jurisdiction over strategic Pacific bases captured from the Japs.

This last Soviet move climaxed the successful "needling" campaign conducted at the security conference by Molotov.

Connolly denied assault charges involving a 4-year-old girl and another 8 years old.

He admitted taking a 6-year-old Chinese girl into the cellar of a Broadway building on April 6 and removing her clothing. He also told of luring an 8-year-old girl into a Castle st. hallway on May 1, but denied he assaulted her.

Surrendered Sub Near Portsmouth

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Vice Admiral H. L. Leary, eastern sea frontier commander, said today the second German submarine to surrender to eastern sea frontier units was expected to arrive tomorrow off Portsmouth, N. H.

The ship, the U-805, will fly the black surrender flag, and will surrender formally to representatives of the First Naval District, Leary said.

The submarine made contact with naval authorities several days ago, he said, and has been approaching the coast under escort on a prescribed course.

First Surrendered Sub Arrives Off Cape May

By ALLAN J. FUNCH

International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD A U. S. NAVY ESCORT VESSEL OFF CAPE MAY, N. J., May 14 (INS)—In abject unconditional surrender, the German submarine U-858 today returned to United States territorial waters where only a short while ago it had waged unconditional war on Allied shipping.

Her torpedo tubes were empty and the torpedoes themselves had been made ineffective for the surrender. During its two and a half years of existence the U-858 sank 18 Allied ships.

The rusty Nazi sub was the first enemy vessel to surrender in American area waters since the United States was plunged into war in 1941.

There were no guns visible on its rounded decks and the American boarding party quickly swarmed over the craft from small boats this morning and took it completely from the hands of the Germans.

The surrender was made by its 27-year-old captain, Lt. Chilo Bode of Bavaria, to Com. J. B. Norfleet, commanding officer of joint operations, Delaware group surface forces of the U. S. Navy.

The youthful German captain appeared very much at ease during the surrender procedure.

Asked if he was surprised at the termination of the war in Europe, he said:

"I was not at all surprised. We expected it. There was nothing else for Admiral Donitz to do." There were five officers and 52 men aboard the U-858, which last sailed from Hamburg eight weeks ago. It sank no ships during its last cruise and still had a full load of 14 unused torpedoes.

Obedying orders of Admiral Donitz, the captain advised American naval units of his position 300 miles south of Cape Race, Newfoundland on May 9—the day after V-E Day.

On May 10, two U. S. units of Admiral Jonas Ingram's Allied Fleet began conveying the sub to the rendezvous off Cape May. Storms delayed the convoy, however, and the rendezvous which was to have been made last week was not made until 8 a. m. today.

In addition to six Navy units from Cape May, there were the two destroyer escorts, two blimps and numerous airplanes at the meeting 42 miles off Cape May.

While two naval units bearing reporters, photographers and radio men crept the dismal sub, which now flew the Stars and Stripes instead of the enemy swastika, blimps and airplanes dipped to get a closer view of the sea serpent.

To insure that there would be no attempt to sabotage or to scuttle the craft, some of the German crew were forced to remain in the U-boat with the American marine prize crew.

The sub crew was made up of young Germans whose average age was some place in between 18 and 20. The youths appeared quite phlegmatic and did not seem upset at the turn of the events which forced their captain to surrender them.

When boats with American cameramen came near the sub, the Nazi captives simply turned their backs until the ship passed.

The officers and crew were placed aboard a sea-going tug and taken to Ft. Miles, Md., where they will be held as prisoners of war by the Army (CQ).

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 11 (INS)—Encrusted with rust and scaly with salt, the second Nazi submarine to surrender at a North American port since Germany's capitulation, arrived at Bay Bulls, N. F., today with a skeleton crew aboard.

British Report 30 U-Boat Surrenders

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—Sir Max Horton, commander-in-chief of Britain's western approaches, said today that between 30 and 35 U-boats had surrendered to the British. He estimated that the total of German submarines afloat was between 50 and 70.

Cavalcade, Infantry Show Spur Bond Drive

Launched in a driving rain that served chiefly to whet the enthusiasm of 200,000 spectators of an impressive parade and dramatic war memorial exercises on Boston Common, the Seventh War Loan campaign unfolded in full swing in Massachusetts today.

The thrilling "Here's Your Infantry" show, postponed from opening day because of the weather, will be presented on the Common at 8 o'clock tonight. The show will be climaxed by a simulated attack on a Japanese pillbox with rifles, machine guns, mortars, bazookas and flame throwers.

Earlier today, the Mighty Cavalcade, a striking exhibition of captured German war equipment, began a bond-selling tour of Boston and its suburbs that will take it into every section of the state before the drive ends on June 30.

Comprising three huge trailers on which the equipment is displayed, the cavalcade is a project of the Savings Banks of Massachusetts. It features a bond sales booth which is expected to play an important part in the task of selling $700,000,000 in war bonds, the state's quota.

The cavalcade schedule today called for appearances this morning in South Boston, at noon in Quincy, 4 p. m. in North Weymouth, 4:30 to 6:30 p. m. in Hingham. The cavalcade will visit Cohasset and Scituate Center tomorrow morning, and Marshfield, Kingston and Plymouth in the afternoon.

The climax of the program came on the Common, where crowds stormed a grandstand containing state, city and military notables scheduled to speak. So dense was the throng at this point that exercises were delayed more than half an hour, as it was impossible for some of the speakers to make their way to the reviewing stand through the crowd.

On the stand came the most impressive moment of the exercises, with the unveiling of a painting of the historic raising of the Stars and Stripes at Iwo Jima.

Appropriately, the chief speakers at this unveiling were three survivors of that valiant conquest—PhM 2c John H. Bradley of the Navy and two Marines, Pvt. Ira Hayes and PFC Rena A. Gagnon, the latter from Manchester, N. H. All three were photographed in Joe Rosenfield's immortal picture of the flag raising.

4 Youths Held In Taxi Holdup

Four Woburn youths were held in $3500 each for the grand jury today in Malden District Court, a fifth was released in bail of $2500 and a sixth had his case continued until tomorrow, in aftermath of an alleged holdup in which the victim was a Malden taxi driver, Leon R. Morse of Pierce st., Everett.

Held in $3500 each were William D. Foley, 17, of Stoddard st.; Robert D. Foley, 20, of Edgell rd.; Edward M. Diamond, 17, and John J. Diamond, 18, both of Lake ave. They pleaded not guilty to unarmed robbery and using an automobile without authority of the owner.

James A. O'Rourke, 20, of Buckman st., pleaded not guilty to unarmed robbery and provided bail of $2500. Judge Elbridge G. Davis continued until tomorrow the case of Albert T. Morse, 21, of Bryant st., who pleaded not guilty to unarmed robbery.

The taxi driver, an employee of the Malden Yellow Cab Co., was allegedly hailed by the six youths in Malden and was told to take them to Woburn. In Medford, he said, one of the youths took over at the wheel and drove the cab to Winchester, where they robbed him of $20 and forced him out.

Gabbie Battles Fire, Rescues Girl in Lynn

Rescue of a 20-year-old girl from her fire-swept home in Union ct., Lynn, by a plucky taxi driver who fought through flames and dense smoke to carry her to safety, featured a midnight blaze of undetermined origin that caused damage estimated at more than $3500.

Miss Dorothy Johnson, 20, was asleep in her bedroom when Raymond Pepper, passing the 2½ story wooden dwelling in his taxicab, saw smoke issuing from the upper windows and heard a girl's scream for help.

Forcing the front door, he was met by a wall of flame, but dashed through it to the upper floor where the Johnson girl was trapped.

She was all alone in the house, having retired after seeing her father, Anton O. Johnson, off to his work at the Boston Navy Yard.

Flying embers set fire to curtains at open windows in the adjoining Rockport Apartments and caused several families to leave the building until the blaze had been brought under control. Deputy Fire Chief James O'Neil announced after the fire that an investigation would be held to determine its cause. He said it had apparently started in the kitchen on the upper floor and swept through the entire house. The lower apartment was vacant.

Scores Army's 'Psychiatrists' As Unqualified

Many discharged servicemen, unfairly labeled psychoneurotics but merely suffering from nervous conditions, are being dealt an unjust social blow upon return to civilian life, Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, state commissioner of mental health, reported today.

Other servicemen discharged because of psychoneurosis are not serious cases, Dr. Perkins said, and should resume normal places in society again after a reasonable period of adjustment.

Army doctors who are made psychiatrists after 90 days' training are not qualified to classify servicemen as psychoneurotics, he stated.

"The doctor may be a perfect medical man," Dr. Perkins said, "but there should be caution against accepting him as a qualified mental doctor. I'd want him if I had a broken bone but I wouldn't want him to work on my head."

There are only 3000 recognized psychiatrists in the nation, Dr. Perkins said, while the armed forces classify a medical man as a psychiatrist after 90 days' training. Many servicemen, falsely branded as mental cases, face loss of former jobs, he said, although they are well able to resume those jobs.

Horse Meat Sold As Beef Seized Here

Bought in good faith as beef, in exchange for $675 and 16,680 red points, 2110 pounds of horse meat was seized today at a Boston sausage factory by health inspectors, it was announced by Health Commr. Dr. Frederick J. Bailey. The Boston meat broker who sold the horse meat to the factory will be prosecuted on charges of violation of the food and drug laws, representing horse meat as beef, and selling above the ceiling price for horse meat.

Abp. Cushing Warns Home Life in Peril

The family, as a social unit emblematic of love and concord, is seriously threatened in this country, and to such an extent that women must look to the hazards or suffer the results of indifference, Archbishop Richard J. Cushing declared today in an address to the Ladies' Auxiliary of Newton Post, Jewish War Veterans, at the Copley-Plaza.

"Women of modern times, like men," he said, "can play the game of life on the side of the angels or with the forces of evil. Rallying behind what is best in life you have a two-fold contribution to make to a new and better world."

"You can reintroduce into modern life the lost sense of reverence, and you can help in the re-establishment of the family, the unit of society which must be saved if democracy is to survive. Women are the natural custodians of reverence, of that spirit of reverence which is opposed to the vulgarity, the coarseness, the rudeness prevalent among us."

Archbishop Cushing attributed the "feminist movement" an undesirable change in the character of women. He said:

"It has often been said that this is a 'man-made world.' The phrase is generally taken to mean that most human institutions, whether economical, political or social, have been fashioned for men rather than for women."

"Men run the world and they run it for themselves. Around the turn of the last century women began to resent this state of affairs and the feminist movement was started. Its purpose was said to be the winning of a place for women in the world. You may recall certain characters in this movement, such as the 'suffragettes.' No need now to analyze or criticize their principles and methods."

"I merely wish," said the archbishop, "to call your attention to one deplorable result, however unintended, which they accomplished. The movement won a place for women in the world, but it did this not by changing the character of the world but by changing woman's character to fit into a man's world."

"Women figuratively, and in some cases literally, have put on trousers to take men's places. Men may be flattered by this imitation—though I doubt it—and the world has profited nothing from it."

Death Cocktail

NEW YORK, May 14 (INS)—A lethal concoction which four men fresh from the Bowery compounded to celebrate a new job in Brooklyn resulted today in death for three of them.

The lone survivor reported their "cocktail" consisted of turpentine, paint, wood alcohol and a soft drink to mask the flavor.

Goering Faces Lidice Trial

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—The whereabouts of Nazi Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler remained in doubt today as unconfirmed reports that he was in Allied custody were followed by equally unauthenticated assertions that he is still hiding out somewhere in Germany.

A Paris dispatch said that an officer returned from the front had declared Himmler to be in Allied custody after being held under house arrest by Adm. Doenitz, but Supreme Headquarters had "no confirmation."

A BBC broadcast later said Himmler was still at large but officers of the German High Command have seen Himmler within the last few days and declared he was hiding nearby, guarded by SS troops.

(Twelfth Army group headquarters reported today that Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, German tank expert and former chief of the German general staff, was captured Sunday by the U. S. Seventh Army.)

The Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio, meanwhile, said Nazi Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering, now in Allied hands, would be tried for destruction of the Czech town of Lidice and the murder of its townspeople, and that Walter Darre, former German food minister, accused of being Goering's assistant in the Lidice massacre, also would face charges.

Associated Press Correspondent Howard Cowan reported that U. S. Seventh Army authorities had evidence that Goering was one of the biggest thieves the world ever has known, saying investigators had found correspondence between Goering and Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi minister of civil administration in eastern occupied areas, explaining how to loot museums.

New Murder Lie Test for Girl, 15

CHICAGO, May 14 (INS)—Detectives continued questioning Shirley Allen, 15, today in connection with the Stevens Hotel murder of Morton Stein, 16, while pressing a widespread search for the victim's companion, Donald Edwards, 15.

Stein's stabbed and bludgeoned body was found Friday jammed in a closet in the hotel room he had occupied with Edwards.

Miss Allen admitted she had spent most of Thursday with Stein in the room. Detectives said she might undergo a second lie detector test after a two-hour test proved inconclusive.

The bobby socks girl said she met Edwards while attending Senn High School. She said Edwards introduced her to Stein at a jitterbug palace.

There was talk among the teenage set that the break between Stein and Edwards came when the former gave Miss Allen a bracelet and Edwards was incensed because Stein had spent too much jointly-held money for it.

Police announced delinquency conditions at Senn High and at Steuben High, where Stein was a student, would be investigated.

Dad in Prowler Hunt Wounds Daughter

Awakened by noises in his yard early today, James Petroni, 50, of Middlesex ave. Medford hastily donned his bathrobe and slippers took a revolver from the bureau and went out to investigate.

In the next room, his daughter, Josephine, 25, heard her father get up and open the back door. Without arousing her mother or two sisters, she followed her parent to the yard.

Checking up to see if anyone was bothering his parked car, Petroni moved slowly through some shrubbery. In the light from a street lamp he saw a shadow moving.

Pulling the gun from his bathrobe pocket, he fired one shot. There was a scream. A body fell. Rushing up, gun still drawn, the father saw his daughter on the ground.

He carried her into the house. Police and Dr. Barnet Baskies of Salem st., Medford, were summoned.

Josephine had been shot through the leg, the bullet passing clean through. Dr. Baskies said the shell had hit the muscle without striking the bone, and that the girl would suffer no serious lameness.

He ordered her to bed immediately and said she would not require hospital treatment.

WLB Pledges No Wage Cuts

The War Labor Board will be just as alert in preventing deflationary wage decreases in the re-conversion period as it has been in blocking raises in excess of the Little Steel formula, declared WLB Chairman George W. Taylor today, visiting Boston to inspect the regional WLB office.

"History shows that inflation has come at the end of wars and we intend to do everything we can to prevent history repeating," Taylor declared.

He said the defeat of Japan would be followed by "great upward pressure on prices while deflationary forces will attack wages." The WLB is studying that problem and hopes to have a solution soon, Taylor said.

Taylor predicted that the basic essentials of food, clothing and shelter "may tighten up in the coming months." He said it may be easier to buy a refrigerator than a steak.

He called upon management and labor to continue the "no strike, no lockout" pledge for the duration of the Japanese war.

Two Jap Ships Sunk, Damage 4

ELEVENTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Alcatraz, May 12 (Delayed) (AP)—After beating a 15-ship convoy in the Ito-Giri Kurile waters, northernmost Japan, 11th Air Force pilots sank two cargo ships and damaged four, probably five, returning pilots reported today.

Capt. Donald Hoffert was credited with sinking a 2500-ton freighter. He said the "scene was very calm as we flew in but it changed rapidly, with AA fire from all ships and shore guns plus fighter attacks from all sides."

One Mitchell exploded and crashed during the fight.

Nagoya

day's raid was just west of the gigantic Mitsubishi engine works, almost totally ruined in previous attacks.

Five great circles of the northern section of the city, nine square miles in all, were designated as target areas. They included the Chugusa factory of the Nagoya arsenal, producing heavy ordnance and ammunition components; a large electric plant, and thousands of home factories turning out electrical parts and airplane instruments.

Five and four-tenths square miles of the city had been burned out prior to today's raid.

More than 5500 American airmen participated in this mightiest aerial strike ever levelled against Nippon.

Bay Staters and Other Yanks Tell of Big Raid

By JOHN R. HENRY

GUAM, May 14 (INS)—The largest B-29 raid in history, which left the northern sector of Nagoya a lake of flame and smoke, was one of the easiest the Yanks have carried out, in the opinion of crews of the more than 500 Superfortresses. The first of five elements participating in the raid covered the vital manufacturing area with incendiaries and columns of smoke rose 17,000 feet. "And from here on it was like heaping more fuel into a hot furnace," said Col. Carl R. Stornie of Denton, Tex., who led one group over the target.

The attacks were carried out from 18,000 feet altitude with bombs dropped visually on targets.

Capt. Chester Wells of Decatur, Miss., who commands the Superfort "City of Detroit," so named because two crewmen are Detroiters, drawled:

"If they were all like this it would be a cinch. We really put the heat to 'em."

His Detroit crewmen, Lt. Fred Bigelow, bombardier, and Lt. William A. Mascara, the engineer, agreed.

Intelligence officers immediately studied information regarding damage to thrice-burned, often bombed Nagoya.

Sgt. John J. Walsh of Worcester, Mass., who participated in 15 missions as a gunner, said: "The only thing newsworthy about this one was it was so easy."

While Red Cross Hostesses Cedelia House of Woodville, Ga., and Jean McLaury of Portlandville, N. Y., poured coffee, relieving crews came in from the 3400-mile round trip to report to intelligence officers.

"All Nagoya, from the center westward, is covered with smoke and flames fanned by a 15-mile wind," Lt. Harry Hayes of Milwaukee said.

T-Sgt. Homer C. Mundell of Ponca City, Okla., called the raid

a "milk run," but for the diminutive radioman, Sgt. Joseph Chovelak of Alpha, N. Y., it was quite a thrill.

The bomb bay stuck in Chovelak's plane and he opened it manually while flying over the target.

"There was a great rush of air, but the updraft from the heat of the fires below was not as great as I expected," Chovelak explained.

Surface Crust on Garden Can Be Broken With Rake

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Moss, Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

Many gardeners have found that even sandy soils have shown signs of forming a surface crust as a result of the recent rains, and unless this condition is taken care of, the crust will retard small seeds from coming up and in some cases may kill the seeds.

The best way to help seeds through is to take an iron rake and tap the soil over the row. Do not drag the rake, just tap or chop lightly.

Beets are one of the oldest and most popular root crops grown in small gardens. They can be listed as a dual purpose crop, as they supply both greens and roots. While not considered as valuable as carrots for food value, beets give variety and add much to family vegetable supply.

Beets are a handy crop, but sensitive to soil conditions. They will not grow well on a soil that is lacking in lime. The crops will do well on most New England soils, but the soil must be well fed.

If you can grow good beets, it is an indication that the soil is good. Like other root crops they are heavy feeders and require a well balanced, complete fertilizer. Side dressing with nitrate of soda also helps beets.

Fertilizer should be applied broadcast for beets at the rate of about five pounds per 100 square feet. Sow seeds in shallow drills about 12-14 inches apart and cover about one-half inch. Soil must be firm or germination will be uneven. The best varieties for V-Gardeners are the quick-growing Crosby Egyptian or Early Wonder.

Sow seed every two or three weeks for a continuous supply of tender roots.

Ask 3-Man State Grievance Board

Several officials of the State, County and Municipal Employees' Assn. asked the joint legislative ways and means committee today to create a three-man appeal board to assure equitable settlement of grievances.

The committee had before it a recommendation by the governor for establishment of appeal machinery and a bill of the committee on public service, based on recommendations of a special legislative commission, calling for a five-man board.

William V. Ward, president of the State Council of the association, told the committee recommendation of the recess commission was unfair to state employees as it did not give equal representation to labor.

Nearly all other officials of the organization favored a three-man board, one to represent labor, one the state, and an impartial chairman appointed by the governor with consent of the council.

Britons Would Make 'Ike' Field Marshal

LONDON, May 11 (INS)—A move is afoot throughout Great Britain to honor Gen. Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of the Victorious Allied forces in Europe, including the suggestion that he be made an honorary British field marshal.

This honorary rank, which must be conferred by King George VI, hitherto has been conferred only upon foreign monarchs. Never before has it been conferred upon a non-British soldier.

Mother's Day Also Christmas

TORRINGTON, Ct., May 14 (AP)—Yesterday, Mother's Day, was Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ragali, when their son, Gunner's Mate 3c William A. Ragali, came home on leave after 16 months of Pacific duty.

Christmas gifts for the past two years, arranged under a tree erected in 1943, were distributed except those for another son, Cpl. Joseph J. Ragali, with the Army in India for 16 months.

Mrs. Ragali vowed not to take down her 1943 Christmas tree until her sons returned.

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

BUY BONDS

WITH our Allies we have won the European War, eliminated the Nazi and Fascist tyrannies, liberated millions of victims of persecution and set the stage for enduring peace.

We did it because our sons were willing to fight and because our people were willing to back them up with their dollars.

Now we turn to our most powerful enemy and the greatest menace to western civilization.

We must meet and defeat Japan and sweep the Pacific clear of hate and barbarism—forever.

It is our biggest, hardest, bloodiest job. As a United States Treasury Department release states:

"The major obstacle to our crushing of Japan is distance. While in the Battle of Europe supply ships from our bases in England had only an overnight run to make, ships in the Pacific have long-reach round trips taking up to five months.

"To crush Japan will take time, heroic and backbreaking effort, overpowering equipment.

"More of everything will be needed. More B-29s. More tanks, half-tracks, jeeps and trucks. More rockets, mortars and airborne radar.

"A whole new air force is in creation—huge new bombers dwarfing the Superfortress—last new jet-propelled combat planes, the P-80 or 'Shooting Star,' coming off the lines by the thousands."

All these things on which our national life and individual existence depend require money.

It is the patriotic duty of every American on the home front to supply it.

Each must back the Seventh War Loan campaign TO THE FULL LIMIT OF HIS FINANCIAL ABILITY.

To fail is to render one's self as condemnable as the soldier who deserts his post in the midst of battle.

WOMEN ON JURIES

THE Massachusetts Senate should promptly pass the bill permitting women to serve on juries in this State.

The measure, as adopted by the House of Representatives, does not oblige all women to assume this responsibility of good citizenship.

It restricts jury service to those who apply for it in writing.

But it does remove the barriers that have been erected and too long tolerated against woman, and for that reason it is a step forward in the right direction.

Massachusetts women are as competent, as well-educated, as properly responsible as the women who are serving on juries in most of the other States.

No legislator can honestly or honorably classify them with morons and imbeciles, as the present jury service law does.

Furthermore, we need women on our juries if we want our courts to reflect the opinions and ability of the ENTIRE population.

URGENTLY NEEDED

THERE must be no letdown in the paper salvage campaign, for our military task is not even half-finished.

Mr. B. G. Waters, Jr., executive secretary of the State Salvage Committee, states:

"In our war with Japan we must all remember that our supply lines will be almost three times the length they have been to Europe, and less paper will be coming back from those fronts.

"We must have an ever-increasing amount of paper for the shipment of food, ammunition and equipment to our troops."

If every family searches its house from cellar to attic, collects all the paper serving no useful purpose and donates it to the salvage drive, our boys will have the things that are so essential to them.

Let us resolve, all of us, to do it now.

ASIDES: A Bostonian making disparaging remarks about the value of college courses in journalism.

wants to know if I can name "one really outstanding man who studied journalism at college." I certainly can. Ernie Pyle studied journalism at the University of Indiana.

Cecil B. DeMille, Chicagoan, wants to know what the B. in Cecil B. DeMille stands for and why the former major leaguer, Joe McGinnity, was called "The Iron Man." The B. in DeMille's name stands for Blount, McGinnity was nicknamed "Iron Man" because when pitching for Brooklyn he won five games in six days.

SIDE LIGHTS: When the Japs are disposed of and total peace has come I wonder who will be the first to say to some shopkeeper: "Hey, don't you know there isn't a war on?" ... Am reliably informed some Detroit parents named their daughter Tommy and their son Maude. ... Readers of this department are doing their best to make me an educated fellow. A Pittsburgher has sent me complete instructions on "how to give first aid to goldfish." I haven't any goldfish. But still, I may be visiting some place where the family goldfish becomes ill. And won't my friends be surprised when I go into action to give their goldfish first aid?

PASSING BY: Ben Hecht. Once an acrobat. Then a newspaperman, poet, short story writer and playwright in the order named. Now an itinerant scenarist. Ben was born in New York City but first achieved fame writing a column titled "One Thousand Afternoons in Chicago." He gave up writing about afternoons because he didn't like to get up that early. He has achieved fame and fortune but not yet lost the common touch. He still carries his cigars in the outside pocket of his coat.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS. Q. So you're a Leo? How does what the stargazers claim check with you personally? A. They say Leos get very angry when greatly aroused. That is true about me. But then doesn't nearly everybody do likewise? Stargazers say Leos are sensitive. That's right about me. How I suffered from the nasty crack from the bleachers when playing semi-pro baseball. (That also is Leo's incline to dissipation and dislike laborious employment. That fits me exactly. I hate work. It is observations like the last named that make me think maybe the stargazers have something.

PROTEST: An informed five Manhattan "teen-agers" have organized a "We Are Tired of Sleeping on the Couch in the Living Room Club." These young women have launched a bitter campaign for rooms of their own and demand their parents move to larger quarters. West of the Hudson, where the apartments are larger, living room couch refugees are practically unknown. In Manhattan, however, it happens in the best of families. Only recently some friends of ours looking at an apartment for which $250 a month rental was asked said it was too small as they needed a room for their daughter. "Oh, don't let that worry you," said the rental agent. "She can sleep on the couch in the living room."

BRIEFLY: A Chicagoan bet me a 50-cent stogie I didn't have another reader whose first name is Callie.

I accepted the wager. Am now prepared to prove I have the following as readers: Callie Connelly, Providence, Cal- lie Gilleland, Jeanette, Pa.; WAC Cpl. Callie Dick, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Callie Ash, Brooklyn, and Callie McIntire, Newtonville, Chicagoan will please forward the 50-cent stogie very carefully wrapped.

George Jean Nathan, dean of drama critics, has been living in the same Manhattan apartment for 37 years. This is the New York record for bachelors. George is also the holder of another record. He has 38 overcoats.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, by King Features Synd., Inc.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14—The only Italians more contemptible than Benito Mussolini, whether in life or death, were those who sprang through the lines of the guards standing over his body and that of a young woman and kicked them in the face, spat upon them both and fired pistols into their corpses.

However, these few were only a delegation, so to speak, representing many thousands who had stood in packed crowds and shrieked "Duce" until the tears ran down their faces when he was riding high.

For it is part of a deliberately false propaganda, designed to give back to the Italian people some shred of self-respect to clothe their ignominy, to say now that there were only a few Fascists and those few were underworld gangsters or greedy capitalists.

The majority of them accepted Fascism and no element enjoyed and favored it more, after the first few years, than that faceless and dehumanized monstrosity whom the radicals of the earth so loftily refer to as the common man.

Fascism relieved them of the duties and responsibilities of manhood and humanity, and if the Axis had won the war, the Italians would have claimed their loot and persecuted their victims to utter degradation.

THE FACTS of life under Fascism seem to have been forgotten by those professional anti-Fascists in the United States who have made the word "Liberal" a disreputable political label.

The reason is that so much of that which they have praised as "Liberalism" and "Democracy" in our own country was taken from Mussolini's system and his creed.

There are many journalists in the United States who would be happy under Fascism and who have worked for years to establish here the conditions under which the ink-stained wretches of the Duce's press scribbled for their cheese and wine.

Italian journalists, with few exceptions, joyously joined the Duce, for he offered them job security, vacations with pay, retroactive benefits and petty importance in return for their docility.

AMONG AMERICAN "Liberals" this system has received violent endorsement and they gave their support to a program which, like Mussolini's, rigged a pipe-line from the treasures of the labor movement into the party treasury.

Audaciously, of late, the Americans have been imposed upon by misuse of the word "patriot" to designate those who rose against Fascism after the doom of Fascism had been wrought by the Americans.

For this term includes the Communists, who are patriotic to no country but Russia.

The same counterfeit was passed during the Spanish Civil War when the Communist revolution, with its long record of atrocity, was labelled the "Loyalist" side.

Franco's Fascism is beyond dispute but the "Loyalist" movement was a true Communist revolution directed ultimately at the Latin republics of this hemisphere.

Fascism in Italy was a reaction to Communism and the premonitory disorders, which would have produced another dictatorship as bad as Mussolini's, and more brutal, but for his intervention.

MANY ITALIANS, of course, wanted no dictatorship and yielded to Mussolini for the very reason that American communities succumbed to violent insurrections which in the organizing days of the CIO under John L. Lewis were called labor strikes.

The orderly, patriotic citizens were unorganized, their mayors and governors were cowards or political opportunists and the national government, though not helpless here, as in the time of Mussolini's rise in Italy, passively collaborated with the rioters.

That toleration of lawlessness was a political investment which paid off in 1944 in the form of forced political contributions from the common man and political intimidation in the interests of the ruling party.

When a squad of Black Shirts in the dead of night called on a sleeping victim and forced down his throat a mixture of castor oil and kerosene, that was Fascism.

But when those tardy heroes of Milan kicked in the face of their old Duce, and defied the body of a young woman whose offense seems to have been a very common informality heartily endorsed by some leading Communists, that was

"Hey, Dave! See if there's a letter for the Adjutant-General from a Fili d'Amour of Hollywood!"

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 14—You know as well as I that any picture that could divert Mervyn Le Roy and Frank Ross from "The Robe" for a split second is something special. But Frank Sinatra is the boy who has done it.

Sinatra told them an idea he had for a featurette dealing with intolerance in the U. S. plus Frankie's favorite subject of juvenile delinquency. It's a story he calls "The House I Live In." The three became so excited over the project of the swoon king in a serious mood they looked up Charlie Koerner pronto.

Frank Sinatra

"Well, what are you waiting for?" said Charlie. "Here's RKO — get busy!" So they went to work and will start their movie next week. All services including Albert Maltz (he dramatized "The Robe") are credited gratis with juvenile work. And kids don't faint, because Frankie will give with two songs along with his preachings.

IF CLIVE BROOK can get transportation he'll come back to Hollywood for Olivia De Havilland's "To Each His Own." Clive and Mildred Brook were two of Hollywood's most popular married people before the war took them overseas. Clive has done outstanding work in the war. He has also made several British pictures and, believe me, he is as handsome as ever.

It's awfully nice that when he returns he'll come straight to his alma mater, Paramount.

TALKED WITH Paulette Goddard who's been promised "Immortal Wife" and she's making plans. "What are you going to do about that 'Moonbeam' part?" I asked. "Oh, I'm going to dye it," she said, "after I finish 'The Diary of a Chambermaid.' I had lunch with Karl Tunberg," she told me. "He produced 'Kitty' and is producing 'Immortal Wife' and it's all arranged for me to get this honey of a story." "Your hairdresser, Helen Borie," I told her, "had a fit when I said your hair was platinum. 'It's moonbeam and I created it,' said Helen. 'A little on the amber side,'" supplemented Paulette, and we both laughed. "I'll tell Darryl Zanuck," I said.

GIATTEER IN HOLLYWOOD: The breakup of the marriage of Peter Coe, good-looking hero opposite Maria Montez in "Gypsy Wildcat," and his wife, recalls what close friends they were of Jennifer Jones and Robert Walker. They were all schoolmates at the Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York in 1939. As you know, Jennifer and Bob split up and now Mrs. Coe (Maria Montez) is filing suit. They have a three-year-old daughter.

SONJA HENIE leaves Wednesday for the East. She told me she may not start her picture, "The Countess of Monte Cristo" until next year. It requires so much time for a rehearsal, and with the strike, she doesn't want to start and then be held up. Just before taking off for the East, Sonja went to San Francisco to talk with the Norwegian delegates. They are hopeful the royal family will be in Norway by June 15, and she said many of the Norwegian patriots hadn't been home since the Nazi invasion. Sonja doesn't know what's happened to her house.

He married his secretary—now she's his treasurer!

THE DAUGHTER of Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein is a beauty, blonde, attractive and very photogenic. So when her mother and her stepfather, the noted Oscar Hammerstein III ("Oklahoma" and "Carousel") get here the last of May she'll sign a contract with 20th Century-Fox. Her name is Dorothy Blanchard, and Ralph Blum has arranged the deal for her.

WONDER WHY Paramount doesn't reissue "Hitler's Gang?" Unfortunately it was so sensationalized at the time it was released that in the mind of the public it became a sort of "Beast of Berlin." On the contrary, it is a very serious and authentic document on the life of the Fuehrer and his unholy stooges.

Boston American, May 14—21

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Carol Gallagher, the former Mrs. Dick Foran, and good-looking Craig Lawrence, Republican actor, were dinner at Brennan's the other night. To make the evening complete, he walked back with Carol Williams. These things do happen in Hollywood. Ann Miller, now heartbroken, James F. Cassidy, producer of "A Dolls' House," that's the show where secretary took a walk at 1:30, had back of Van Vleet, the thing that held up Mr. Cline's divorce in Mexico, was that certain papers had not arrived from London. So she's married a divorcee now a bride. Joe Martin, of the New York Mirror and Mary K. Jones, the "Garden of Eden" are getting warmer and warmer; Patti Andrews is wearing a six-carat diamond on her finger, but who put it there I don't know; Ray Bolger is Jack Warner's choice for Jack Donaghy in the Marilyn Miller story.

ANGELA GREENE looks enough like Alice Faye off the screen to be her twin sister. She came into Romanoff's the other night and I thought it was Alice. The regular Thursday crowd there included the New York visitors, Walter Winchell and the Earl Wilsons, who were seated next to each other; Charlie Chaplin is reported having sold his 250 acres in Mexico; Joe Yule, Mickey Rooney's father, is busting to get overseas so he can join Mickey in an entertainment act; Franz Waxman says Mrs. Waxman is coming back June 4, bringing with her Nicola Lubich, Ernst's small daughter. Says Franz, "There's no truth that my wife and I have had any trouble."

24—Boston American, May 14

By RUTH MUGGLEBEG

Beauty and Fashion Editor

SAILORS are impish, young and worldly little lads that tip flirtatiously over the forehead... to focus the gleam in your eyes. And, with the heralded return of many of our fighting heroes from the European victory ground... the gleam should be like twinkling stardust fraught with joyous expectancy.

Small wonder there's a sudden mad rush on to pretty up. Since V-E Day our mad bulges with beseeching advice for a quick transformation of face and figure. What young woman doesn't want to be a song sublime in the eyes of her man? She's been "a little on the lonely side" for so long... with "no one to romance with"... that now that the day of longing "to hold you tight" is soon to be a reality... she's thrilled beyond words with the anxiety to pretty up the face and dressing up the figure... for her Sugar Candy.

We girls are going to surprise our Johnny-come-marching-home-again... or, at least, we hope so. We're going to show him that we cared for our beauty for his sake... knowing full well he'll want to feast his tired and denied eyes long and hard on the girl of his dreams... to see if she measures up to the mental picture he carried with him into the foxholes... in the air... and on the sea.

For the great days ahead... there must be great and strict adherence to the beauty rules if your favorite GI isn't going to be disappointed... heaven forbid. The face must get a good going-over... virtually an overhauling. But, today we'll concentrate on the eyes... and their need, no doubt, for softening of the crinkling corners... for eliminating the worried, fretful etching that took toll of them... because they were awake during sleeping hours with concern over his safety.

WEAR IT NIGHT OR DAY

And so we give you a new eye cream... created specifically to meet the problems of tense lines around the eyes. Gossamer light... it is eagerly absorbed by the skin... and therefore its application never stretches this sensitive area. You may wear this eye cream... just a dot carefully blended... by day with your make-up to protect your eye-enriching skin from future detriments... such as sun, wind and squinting... while you're marking time for your Big Moment's return. Or you can use it every night before you retire... so it may gently smooth, soothe and help your skin to retain its youthful resilience to wrinkles.

For the name of this new and important eye cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hats Improve Your Posture

By BETTINA BEDWELL

HATS to make you keep your chin up, to carry your head with a proud posture, are part of the summer styles. The idea comes from Tatiana du Plessis, gifted hat designer, who may have remembered how European peasant women carry their heads with the proud posture of a queen when they carry a basket or vase on top of it.

For these new hat fashions of hers are large hats, with important trimming, and the wearer simply has to carry her head with the same proud carriage Miss Dulin has sketched one, a red straw Breton shape, trimmed with bows of navy blue ribbon between clusters of wood violets, set like a garland around the crown.

You simply have to carry your head well in a hat like this, and the filmy veil worn under the chin helps the effect.

YOUR SWEET hat may have all the coquettish dash and spice of this petticoat-ruffled little round pillbox which RKO star Barbara Hale wears so fetchingly... but to keep the dry, tissue-thin skin in the eye-encircling area... which such a tip-topper accents... soft, smooth and young looking... you need to use a rich eye cream daily... such as is discussed today. Let the eyes have it... when your favorite GI looks into them to read what his heart wants them to say.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Sunday—Every day when I go over and look at my husband's grave I find that another official of a foreign state has sent either earth to be strewn over it, or flowers. It will be some months before the stone for which my husband himself left specifications can be put in place, but the grave will always look blooming and alive, which is what my husband liked.

When he looked at a desert, he always said that he could recognize the beauty, but he much preferred green trees and blooming flowers to a landscape that looked as thought the business of living had passed it by.

YESTERDAY Secretary and Mrs. Ickes came up to look over the big house and the grounds, which the government will soon take over. As we went from room to room, I told the Secretary about the various things of interest, and he suddenly said: "You will have to write the markers for everything in this house."

I realize that I will have to do this, and I will also have to tell the guides the stories about the house. Otherwise, the visitors will miss a great deal that is of real significance—things which add to the interest of any historical house.

I HAVE BEEN GETTING a good many letters of late about the equal rights amendment, which has been reported out favorably in the House judiciary committee. Some of the women who write me seem to think that if this amendment is passed there will be no further possibility of discrimination against women.

Others are afraid the dangers of the amendment are not being properly considered.

I do not know which group is right, but I feel that if we work to remove from our statute books those laws which discriminate against women today, we might accomplish more and do it in a shorter time than will be possible through passage of this amendment.

WHEN WE MAKE suggestions for cooking meats these days it is always with the provision that the particular meat in question is available. Today, we are going to talk about liver; and we do hope that you are able to get a pound in your market this week, for we know this menu with braised liver and spaghetti will make your family smack its lips.

MENU

Braised Liver and Spaghetti
New Beets with Greens
Hard Rolls
Butter or Margarine
Fresh Fruit Salad
Spice Cake
Coffee

BRAISED LIVER WITH SPAGHETTI

1 lb. liver (beef, veal, pork or lamb)
3 tbsp. drippings
1 small onion, chopped
2 cups tomatoes
1 tsp. spaghetti
Grated cheese

Cut liver in 1/2-inch cubes. Dust with flour, salt and pepper. Brown with onion in hot drippings. Add tomatoes; cover, and simmer 20 minutes. Cook spaghetti until tender in boiling salted water. Arrange on hot platter and pour the meat and sauce over it. Sprinkle with grated cheese. More cheese may be served separately in a small bowl if desired.

Any kind of liver may be used for this dish, but it offers an especially good opportunity to take advantage of beef or pork liver. These are somewhat less tender meats than veal (calf's) liver, and more economical in price. Veal and lamb livers are tender enough to broil or panbroil.

From the point of view of nutritional value, pork liver is an exceptionally good source of the mineral iron—a nutrient we need for building red blood, preventing nutritional anemia and helping to maintain good health generally.

FOR CONTRAST IN MENU

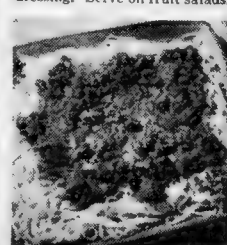

Since a meat and spaghetti dish is hearty and filling, this is a good time to serve some new spring greens to help balance the menu. Tiny garden beets cooked and served right with their own greens are especially appealing. For contrast in texture, serve rolls of the hard, crusty variety.

Besides the hot dishes, serve a cool, refreshing fruit salad. Sliced naval oranges, grapefruit segments and a few luscious ripe strawberries show off beautifully on a bed of crisp curly endive. Pass the dressing separately; a French dressing made with lemon or grapefruit juice, and perhaps a bit of honey, is a good choice.

FRUIT FRENCH DRESSING

1 cup salad or olive oil
4 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 cup tarragon vinegar
1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
6 tbsp. honey.

Combine all ingredients and beat with a hand or an electric beater until smooth and blended. Makes about 1 1/2 cups dressing. Serve on fruit salads.

THE WAR has produced a number of novel ideas in showers, latest of which is the Liberation Shower given Saturday by Mrs. James Boyle of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Robert Craig Campbell Jr., of Cambridge for Mrs. Robert Lee Walters. (Catherine Cox) of Brookline.

Mrs. Walters learned last week that her husband has been liberated after several years in a German prisoner of war camp and will soon be on his way home. The party was a complete surprise to her and provided many pretty feminine gifts for a sort of second honeymoon.

Mrs. Robert Meyer

Joining the fun were her mother, Mrs. Robert Cow, Mrs. August Hoffenreiter Helen Morgan, Mrs. Jack Steverman, Mrs. George Murphy, Mrs. Arthur Ross, Mrs. Milton Tyle, Mildred Platt, Betty Benedict, Althea Peck, Eleanor McDermott and Mrs. Robert Meyer.

MRS. J. MOTT HALLOWELL'S lovely home in Chestnut Hill was filled with lilacs and other bright spring flowers for the bundle tea she gave to collect donations of silks, china, clothing, books, etc. for the Faulkner Hospital Rummage Sale at Horticultural Hall tomorrow.

Guests included Mrs. William Marlowe and Mrs. Frederick Kingsbury, who poured at the flower laden tea table. Mrs. Marlowe was modish in tailored pastel tweed and Mrs. Kingsbury chose a black afternoon dress with bands of Yale blue across the bodice. Mrs. Hallowell wore a crimson and black print.

Mrs. Thomas Woods was posted at the front door to receive the bundle each guest was required to bring as an admission fee. Mrs.

Liberation Shower

F. Wadsworth Bask helped arrange the packages in a most display up-stairs and made a big hit modelling a patriotic red, white and blue sweater which was among the donations. She also tucked in her hair some sequin butterflies from one of the bundles.

Other guests were Mrs. Howard Biscoe, Mrs. Rufus Wilbur, Mrs. Charles Sabine, Mrs. James Wheeler, Mrs. Henry Prout, Mrs. B. Stanley Johnson, Mrs. Osbourne Howe, Mrs. Charles Lee, Mrs. Charles Wallace, Mrs. Hazel Wrightman, Marian and Grace Edmunds, Mrs. Walter Carl, Mrs. Harold McNeil, Mrs. Samuel Stevens and Mrs. Carl Perry.

WHEN the Charlotte Cushman Club holds its annual spring rummage sale Thursday at Horticultural Hall, the public will have the fun of being waited on by actors and actresses currently playing in the Hub.

Mrs. Lyman Gutterson, Mrs.

Ralph P. Worden, Mrs. Harry J. under Mrs. Malcolm Bradley Murphy and Lydia Minchen are French for the success of this just a few of the many working affair.

3 Cars in 100 Found With Faulty Brakes

Recent tests have shown that three of every 100 cars examined have faulty brakes. Registrar King announced today in reporting that seven persons were killed in auto accidents in the state last week.

Declaring the national brake emphasis program would continue three more weeks, the registrar urged all car and truck owners to have their brakes tested free by registry inspectors.

Nazi War Criminals Still Practice Terror

By AUSTEN LAKE

I SERIOUSLY DOUBT THAT our Allied prosecutors will catch more than a handful of German war criminals, or that we will ever punish more than a scattered few. The vast criminality of the Reich are already growing whiskers, or shaving them off, changing their names and becoming Polish brewmasters or Swiss watchmakers and hiding among the great mass of dislocated peoples.

German militarism has gone underground. Its secret fraternity was organized in a spider-web of intrigue throughout the Reich even before our armies crossed the Rhine. With Teuton thoroughness the Nazi party anticipated defeat even when it was riding on the crest of victory. And today Germany there exists a growing nucleus of Nazi gangsterism which surpasses the Capone gun-society of Chicago's Volstead era.

During the confused, post-surrender welter you haven't read much about this. But Nazi gangdom is multiplying like maggots in a gangrenous wound every day. You'll be hearing more and more about it from this time on.

Case of the Burgomeister's "Suicide"

HERE'S A SAMPLE. When the 4th Armored captured Ohrdruf on April 4 the Thuringian town was a center of Nazi fanaticism. Two days later the Burgomeister and his wife committed what officially was considered suicide. The motive was supposed to be the couple's mortification over the grisly wholesale murders in the nearby Shutzlager, the camp, where that morning the mayor and his frau had been taken to view the sordid scene. Official theory held that they were so horrified by the experience that they hurled themselves from such a repugnant world.

But for some reason it didn't make logic. So, having leisure on my hands, I decided to do an S. S. Van Dine. I had a German English-speaking policeman assigned and visited the burgomeister's house. A tough visaged caretaker with a shaven head and thick jaw and narrow eyes opened the door and surlily took us up stairs. He was a monosyllabic character who just wasn't putting out.

The bodies of the man and his wife—both stolid-faced people, lay under a sheet. They had been hung with lengths of common binding twine, hardly strong enough to support their weight. Their wrists and throats had been deeply slashed. As a job of suicide it had been unnecessarily messy. But especially mystifying was the fact that each was supposed to have been hung from wall-hooks on an outside balcony, hooks exactly five feet three inches from the floor. Their feet would have touched the ground. Hanging at that height was a physical impossibility.

The grim-faced caretaker displayed a small penknife, tinted with dried blood, as the vein cutting instrument. Superficial evidence indicated that man and wife had radically slashed themselves, one homicide the grisly knife to the other. After which, presumably, they went out to the porch and hung themselves. There was no blood on the floor under one hook and only a little beneath the other. But under each body, as it lay beneath the sheet there was a horrid pool.

It was inconceivable that two people, as abuse-looking and insensitive as these, would have tortured themselves so systematically when death was so easily achieved instantly and tidily by using a stout clothesline which was draped in the courtyard and by dropping themselves from the high balcony.

From any angle it looked like murder! I am convinced that it was! The caretaker said he hadn't heard any sounds, though he occupied an adjoining room. There hadn't been any visitors! But later I found that the Burgomeister had tried to carry favor with the Americans with information leading to several arrests. He hoped to keep his job!

The Nazi Underground Grows

SO THERE THE CASE RESTED—in a dead end. As a Van Dine I was a complete flop. But I brought my findings and suspicions to the young American Military Government officer in the local Stadthaus where he was up to his chin in administrative muddle. He said wearily, "Aw wot 'ell of it? I was going to fire the guy anyway." To him another dead German among so many other millions of deceased people made no difference. There the case closed! Today I still insist that the man was murdered as a renegade by the Nazi underground and his wife was included as a witness.

Nor was it unusual to find chalked scrawls on the walls of many towns, stating in German: "Who assist the invader dies," and "German survives. Stay German or perish." Then there was that little former resident of Lawrence, Mass., whose name I did not print lest he become a target for revenge, and who helped us locate and arrest the Burgstadt's former Kreisleiter Tronja. His worried little wife, also Lawrence born, had wailed, "O, I hope (censored) is not getting himself in trouble." But she seemed reassured when we told her to report any mischief to the U. S. military.

A few days later she came to say that her husband had disappeared—vanished like evaporated steam. She suspected tearfully that the Nazi underground had killed him and concealed his body. What could be done? In that swiftly shifting scene, nothing was accomplished—just a routine investigation and nothing more. At the time of my departure the little man was still missing. I never heard the denouement, but I have grave fears for his fate.

So today and every day hereafter such incidents are happening in a land where death and macabre mystery are still the favorite, familiar instruments of Nazi terrorism. The war criminals are still at large and practicing their craft. As yet we have not cracked down officially on a single one of them.

Cardinals Next B's Foe

By BILL GRIMES

Bob Coleman's Braves, cheered up by their improved showing in the Sunday game, prepared today for the Wigwam invasion of the Cardinals tomorrow. The Braves are only half a game behind the Redbirds and, since the latter haven't been burning up the league, the B's hope to get better than an even break in the single game tomorrow and the twin bill Wednesday.

The Braves have been in a vertical dive for five games. But yesterday a combination of smart pitching by Nate Andrews and a timely two run single by Tommy Holmes gave them a 3 to 2 victory over the Cubs in a six-inning game, which was called on account of rain. Although the ten games lost by the Braves this season are all charged against his "Big Four," Manager Bob Coleman hasn't given up on his first stringers. He believes that Tobin, Javery, Andrews and Barrett haven't been able to get their arms in shape because of the bad weather. However, he frankly admits that a good relief pitcher would have pulled three or four games out of the fire.

The "Big Four" has pitched 112 1/3 innings. They have been nicked for 67 runs and 124 hits. Along with issuing 52 walks. The second-stringers, Earley, Hutchings, Cozart, Fette, Schacher and Wallace and Cardoni, who are now at Indianapolis, have worked 44 2-3 rounds, been scored 33 times, given up 47 hits, issued 25 passes and fanned only 14.

Nate Andrews tops the Braves pitchers with three wins and two defeats, with Al Javery in the runner-up berth with "one and one." Jim Tobin in third place with two victories against four defeats and "Red" Barrett a poor last, no wins and three defeats. Tom Earley and Charlie Cozart received credit for the other two wins.

It is regrettable that with no less than six regulars hitting 294 or better, the Braves pitchers have been unable to carry their share of the burden. The Coleman have scored 58 runs to 100 by their opponents, yet they are two games below the .500 mark. On the whole, the defensive play has been better than in the past few years.

Tommy Holmes is rapidly gaining recognition as one of the smartest hitters in the league. Out of 80 official trips to the bat, "Kelly" has connected with 32 hits for an average of .400. He has been hitting in the No. 2 slot but his RBI is 16, a remarkable achievement.

Although he has made only one hit in his last 15 trips at bat, "Butch" Nielsen is hitting .344, due to a sensational streak at the start of the season.

Dick Culler has been a pleasant surprise at the bat. It was admitted by the experts that Culler has few peers defensively. But right now, it would seem that the scouts didn't pay enough attention to Dick at the plate. He's not a power hitter. And, realizing that fact, he doesn't "go for the fences." Already, he has had two "four hit days"; a feat no other Brave has been able to accomplish. And of the 72 times, he has been to bat, Culler has hit safely 24 times, for .333.

Eddie Miller's Career Periled

By BILL GRIMES

According to N. L. "scuttlebut," Eddie Miller's playing days are over. He broke a knee cap last winter when he slipped on some ice while putting on a "weenie roast" for his boys.

Ten days ago, Lt. (j.g.) Joe Beggs, who was one of the best relief pitchers in the majors, sailed for France.

Alvin Kluttz, brother of the Braves catcher, who was wounded in Germany, is recuperating at Asheville, N. C. Al belongs to the St. Louis Cardinals and, like his brother, is a catcher. He was hit on the left arm and chest by shrapnel but the medics tell him that he'll be back in a baseball uniform next season.

Fred Flagg, who was a member of the Cincinnati Reds' scouting department, is on his way to Pearl Harbor. He is a "two striper" in the Navy.

There is a pretty good looking six-year-old ball player working out daily at Braves Field. He is Dickie Culler, son of the Braves' shortstop. Unlike his daddy, Dickie throws and bats left handed. There are few kids even twice his age who throw and hit better than young Culler.

Lou Fette and Jim Turner, who were 20-game winners for the Braves back in '37, met for the first time in three years, a week ago in New York. As a rule neither Fette nor Turner are talkative but they are "Mike McNames" when they get together.

"Monk" Dubiel, the Yankee pitcher, a product of Hartford, who married a Chinese girl, is the proud father of a boy. George "Wangy" Young, the custodian of the clubhouse at Braves Field had Dubiel headed for the Wigwam, but the hurler was sidetracked.

Tony Lupien, the former Harvard and Red Sox first sacker, who was with the Phillies when he entered the U. S. Navy, has received permission from his "C. O." at Camp Sampson, N. Y. to work out with the Braves during his current furlough.

George Barnicle, who was with the Braves off and on for about three years, has been drafted into the Army and is stationed at Fort Devens. For three years "Barney" was 4-F but he's "in the Army now."

Sgt. Joe Sullivan, who is now with the local M. P. group after almost three years in the South Pacific with an infantry outfit, is trying out with the Cascoys of the Park League. He was a good minor league ball player before he received his "greetings."

'Johnson Is My Pal,' Says Dave Ferriss

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ST. LOUIS, MO., May 14—Bob Johnson is the best pal a rookie pitcher could have. That was the opinion expressed by Dave Ferriss today as the Red Sox arrived here from Detroit for a three-day game (all night) series with the St. Louis Browns.

"He's done some fine hitting for me in all three games I pitched," smiled the 23-year-old air corps veteran whose 8-2 Sunday victory over Detroit kept him in the undefeated class. "He's a hit a homer for me every game, hasn't he?"

Let's look back. Ferriss made his debut against Bobo Newsum in the A's park on Sunday, April 29 and won 2-0. No. Johnson didn't homer in that game, but he singled and scored the first run. Ferriss himself singled and scored the second. Johnson did homer in the ninth inning of the second game that day; the Sox won in the 13th.

But Johnson's sixth Inning homer off Bonham gave Ferriss a 2-0 lead on the Yanks in the kid's second shutout victory, and Johnson's fourth-inning homer off Trout with McBride on gave him a two-run lead in Detroit.

When the Indian hits, the Sox win, and the Indian always hits for Ferriss.

Nor did Ferriss forget Skeeter Newsum, whose first inning double play in Philadelphia kept him from being scored on and possibly chased from the box (he was wild that day). Newsum's grand stop and throw on Maier also saved him trouble in the first inning yesterday, and Skeeters timely double kept the four run seventh inning rally alive.

But Ferriss' 10 strike outs, four on York, two on Trout and one on pinch hitter Walker for the outs, helped him even more than Johnson or Newsum. And he's also helped himself with six hits in nine trips to the plate.

"I'm glad that scoreless inning string is ended," Ferriss admitted. "Records are all right, but I'm satisfied to win."

He ought to be satisfied all year long, then, because with his stuff and the way his mates play behind him he should win 20.

Ferriss was happy to reduce his walks. Against the A's he gave six, the Yanks five, the Tigers four.

Judd or O'Neill will pitch tonight's game against the Browns. If Judd should deliver, the Sox pitching will be in grand shape. "He looked great at Sampson," said Del Baker of Judd's only start this year. Metkovich defaulted in Detroit because of a sore rib. Had he been in the lineup the Sox might have defeated Benton. The screen in right field is down for the first time since the park was built. Steiner hit two out there off Benton, foul by feet. . . Benton has allowed one earned run in 45 innings. . . The Tigers have nothing much except pitching. The Yanks look stronger. . . The Sox are still screaming about Weafer's decision on Christy at second base in the fourth inning of yesterday's second game. It cost them a run, snuffed out a rally with Wilson, a good hitter, coming up. Detroit was leading only 1-0 at the time. Might have changed the entire situation. . . Wilson has pitched two five hiters in five days. Lost both.

CRISLER BACK IN N. Y.
NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, Michigan football coach, has returned from a 10,000-mile tour of Army installations in the Panama Canal Department.

O'Brien Wants To Meet Ferriss

"I want to meet that fellow and wish him luck," said Buck O'Brien, when told that Dave Ferriss had pitched 22 scoreless innings to break the record he (Buck) set at 19-23 in 1911.

The old Red Sox pitcher, now 60, didn't know until a fellow worker at Lawley's told him last week that he held the American League record for scoreless innings at the start of a big league career.

"I remember breaking in with a 2-0 shutout in Philadelphia when I came up from Denver to join the Red Sox," recalled O'Brien, who now lives in Dorchester, "but I'm hanged if I can remember the first run scored against me. I know there were plenty after the first one."

White Sox Regain Peak in American

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox climbed back into first place in the American League yesterday by winning both games of a doubleheader from the Washington Senators, 5-1 and 4-2, while the New York Yankees could get nothing better than an even split with Cleveland.
